ASSESSMENT INVENTORY OF PROJECT MANAGEMENT

The Assessment Inventory of Project Management (TM) presents a comprehensive view of effective project management by international experts in the field of management. The ideas underlying the questions included in the inventory have been drawn from interviews with experienced project managers, management literature, and from the combined personal experiences of Business Management Consultants' (BMCs') consultants and trainers. In essence this is a model of effective project management as viewed by the real experts, those who have successfully managed.

The competences are assessed by the project manager, by project team members and by the manager of the project manager. The report is presented in two formats. The first format is a compilation of individual scores as reported by Managers of Project Managers, Project Managers and Team Members who are participating in the current assessment. The second format is an aggregation of scores from your company, industry and country. These scores are taken from numerous project management training and development courses run by BMC in over 50 different countries during the past 10+ years.

》》 The inventory assesses the competencies in 6 areas:
- Planning
- Organising and staffing
- Directing and Leading
- Controlling
- Reporting
- Risk management

》》 The Assessment Inventory is designed to provide individuals a means to measure change in their project management behaviours during an improvement process. The self score can be measured against our extensive dbase with comparison scores for Group, Company, Industry and Country. We also measure scores against our overall benchmark dbase results across all roles/industries/countries or in total. All questionnaires are completed on line and comparison data, reports and action plans can be viewed or easily downloaded and printed.
